REASONABLE LENIENCY

The disastrous drop in the price of all agricultural products has resulted in serious financial losses to all farmers. It is not only the small farmer working on a limited credit who has been financially crippled, but the big men in the business have been badly hit. In the words of old Ben Fitzsimmons it seems that "the bigger they are the harder they fall."

To offset the pessimistic feeling among the agricultural classes, the Saskatchewan government arranged for a meeting of the various commercial and farming interests and it was arranged that the creditor class should be asked to extend leniency to worthy farmers. The idea is to relieve the man who is industriously doing his best to get ahead of the worry caused by persistent and unremitting collectors following him around.

The plan should work out with excellent results providing the sources of money are equally lenient with the men who are extending leniency to the farmers.

PROGRESS

A few weeks ago The Mail editorially deplored the seemingly stagnant condition of Western Canada. Perhaps it was on a blue Monday that the article was penned. Since then we have had brought to our attention certain facts that tend to show that the country's advance has really been spectacular. The present doldrums through which the world is passing is being felt here as well as in other countries and perhaps we take the situation to keenly to heart.

In pursuance of this subject we came across an extract from an article by Henry Labourchere in a London, Eng., periodical, written in 1881, bitterly attacking an attempt to float ten million dollars worth of C.P.R. land grant bonds in England. To read the opinion then expressed by an ancient journalist and to see the progress made by a country which he then designated as a barren wilderness, is most encouraging. For the benefit of our readers we quote an extract from the article:

"The C.P.R. will run, he said, through a country frost-bound for seven or eight months of the year, and will connect with the eastern provinces a province (B.C.) which embraces about as forbidding a country as any one on the face of the earth. British Columbia is not worth keeping and fifty railways would not galvanize it into prosperity. The C.P.R. is not likely to yield a single cent of interest on the money that may be sunk into it. 'A friend of mine told me,' Mr. L. went on, 'and he knew what he was talking about, that he did not believe the much touted Manitoba settlement would hold out many years. The people who had gone there cannot stand the coldness of the winters. Men and cattle are frozen to death in numbers that would astonish the intending settler if he knew, and those who are not killed outright are maimed for life with frost bites. Its direct nuisances kill people with malaria, or drive them mad with plagues of insects, and to keep themselves alive during the winter they have to imitate the habits of the Esquimaux'; it is through a death dealing region of this kind that the new railway has to run. Canada was one of the most文明 countries they had, but it was heartily loyal and made its loyalty pay. It had only one sound province, Ontario, which some of these days, when the bad of debt got too heavy, would come to the state, and the Dominion would disappear. The country was crisscrossed with debt, every province also having a separate debt, as has almost every collection of families calling itself a city. The province and city of Quebec are both notoriously bankrupt. Once the country was fairly committed to the new railway he saw nothing before it but bankruptcy. 'This Dominion is in short a fraud—all through, and is threatened to burst up like any other fraud,' Mr. Labourchere concluded.

THE PRICE OF COAL AND POLITICS

Some time ago The Bassano Mail, commenting on the scarcity of work in the Drumheller coal fields, said that this was due to the unreasonably high wages the miners demanded. We contended that it was also most akin to crime for coal mined right in our own province to cost the high price it does, especially in view of the drop in the price of grains. The Drumheller Mail in its last issue tackles the question thus:

Commenting on the unemployment situation in Drumheller a certain newspaper in the constituency remarked that no one had any sympathy for the miners of Drumheller since they had held up the poor farmer (of the $3.00 wheat period) when times were good and whatever they were suffering now was coming to them. Such was the comment of one section of the constituency when a local union official appeared before the authorities enlisting aid for distress.

The scene is now changed and the farmer needs the labor vote in order to purify politics. The labor vote like the British vote and the Quebec vote, has always been the most obliging servant in times of need and has existed largely for that purpose. If the farmers can corral it, good luck to them! They are certainly saving the business of politics.

This paper did not seek to make the high price of coal and resultant unemployment a political issue. Our desire was to plainly point out to the miners the results of their high-handed demand for war-time wages. Not only is the farmer a sufferer, but also townspeople. This is not a question of politics, but of plain economics.

Incidentally that $2000 wheat remark only more strikingly draws attention to the reduction in farm products, for wheat is now around $1.00, while coal still roars serenely aloft.

Mayor and Forster on a political platform should draw a road anywhere.

Business has not been extraordinarily lively but Bassano has held its own.

The jazz music and check-a-check dance has been barred in Hungary. The Huns think it too degrading.

Washington is the centre of hope the old war god Mars would attention now. Let's get a K. O. there.

The Great War ended three years ago last Friday but a number of little wars have been keeping Ma Earth agitated ever since.

The tariff is a thing of doubt. Known of in many lands, Which everybody talks about And no one understands.

In these days of tight money the old system of barter is coming back. A few of our farmer subscribers have paid their subscriptions this fall with farm products. We believe in free trade, especially in turkey.

COMMUNICATION

Earnest and intelligent co-operation of merchants and farmers in this vicinity is necessary if Bassano is to be a prosperous city.

An inland prairie town must depend on the farmers for its success. A survey of the farm conditions and a study of the wheat farming during the past ten years in this community may be made profitable to us all. Observe the absence of straw and haystacks—look at the fields of weeds and thistles everywhere wheat was grown.

Many a skilful farmer has come here with money and lost out trying to make money growing wheat. It must be apparent that wheat should be sown on dry land and only on our best and most suitably prepared land. All the wheat stubble has grown a most luxuriant crop of Russian thistle and other weeds that have used up the moisture that has fallen since the scanty wheat crop last harvest. If wheat is to be successfully grown here there must come better tillage methods, smaller fields with subsoil stirred to hold moisture and weedy conditions generally overcome.

Let us develop a system of general farming that will bring prosperity to Bassano. This can be done in a few years by intelligent co-operation. We now wait a year for harvest. The banker, the merchant, the farm machinery men, all depend upon the farmer to settle obligations in the fall. A failure in wheat and everyone is discouraged and many a farmer is forced out of business. This is a public calamity and should not be permitted if it can possibly be avoided.

Rye can be grown here with greater certainty than wheat. Encourage the farmer, by circulating proper bulletins, and by other effective methods, to sow one-half of his acreage to rye and insist that one-half of this crop be cut for hay to be fed right here. Immediately this hay is stacked, disc and plow under the stubble and pack so as to let it rot. This will kill all the weeds and hold the fall moisture that comes. Summer-fallow this field the following season and stir the subsoil; pack and keep free from weeds. We need rye hay for cattle and horses. We need rye for hogs. Rye rotated with wheat and the ground worked to destroy weeds and hold the moisture will work wonders on dry land.

Consider well the dairy cow. Twenty five per cent of our dry land cut for hay will clean up the weeds and furnish an abundance of hay for local consumption. Encourage irrigation crops. Alfalfa hay, sunflowers and oats for green feed should be everywhere in sight at Bassano.

Build a creamery and push the dairy industry. Some of the richest and most prosperous farm communities on this continent have developed with less natural advantages than we possess right here. A trip incite Hat to examine the farms made in the direction of Medicine and to discuss the situation with the farmers is interesting and encouraging.

Near Latham look at the Milky Way fields of rye and its stacks of hay and green feed. South of there is the Dominion Farm, with 2,000 acres of rye—a splendid prospect for next year. Inquire about their ideas of what growing and their faith in the rye future of their farm. Be sure to visit Brooks and observe the many beautiful groves and stacks of alfalfa hay.

It will pay the merchants to interest themselves in these and business men of Bassano things; to encourage the discouraged farmers here and pull for a better system of dry farming, for irrigation and the dairy industry.

Public meetings to discuss the situation with farmers should help and afford opportunity for distribution of bulletins and literature on this important topic before us today.

WHEAT PRICES

WINNIPEG, Nov. 16.—After an erratic season, the wheat market here closed with an advance of 2 1/2, to 2 1/2 cents over yesterday's close. Short covering was said to be responsible for the strength in view of the report that Germany would be in the United States market for large stocks of grain. There was both good buying and selling of May wheat and good buying of November wheat for export. The spread was about three cents for the day.

The demand for cash wheat is still indifferent and large deliveries passed through the clearing house. Oats, barley and rye are showing strength, while flax was practically unchanged. Most grades of cash wheat were in good demand for domestic and export business. The demand for barley is not urgent and only small lots are wanted from day to day.

Buy an Irrigated Farm

From the Canadian Pacific Railway

Irrigation makes the farmer independent of rainfall, and assures good crops, not occasionally, but EVERY YEAR.

Irrigation makes possible the successful culture of alfalfa, the king of fodder, which insures good returns in dairying and mixed farming.

Irrigation means intensive farming and close settlements, with all the advantages of a densely populated agricultural community.

Irrigation in the Canadian Pacific Railway Irrigation Block is no longer an experiment, the years that it has been tried out have absolutely demonstrated its success wherever intelligently applied.

This is the most liberal offer of irrigated farm land in record.

For full particulars apply to Allen Cameron, General Supt. of Lands

Fabrics SPECIAL
YOU CAN MAKE UP WITH THE BELROBE

FIRST—The Belrobe saves you ¼ to 1 ½ yards on material—50c to $10—because of its professional, individual layout chart.

NEXT—It guides you in putting your garment together so that you attain the exclusive fit, drape and finish of an expert.

AND LAST—It gives you Paris' own touch in finish—those all-important things upon which the success of your gown depends.

BEFORE you plan a single winter garment, select the styles you like best at our Design Pattern counter. The Belrobe simplifies the making of the most elaborate gowns.

Always at Your Service

If you wish soft, glossy, fluffy hair use QUININE HAIR TONIC once a day and shampoo your hair once a week with LIQUID TAR SHAMPOO.

Preferred by many users because it produces a copious lather and cleans thoroughly. It gets into the pores and removes the dirt quicker than does soap in cake form.
